GREYHAWK'S TEAM RAISES THE BAR WITH LATEST PROFESSIONAL ACHIEVEMENTS

NEW YORK—April 2, 2008— Gary S. Berman, President/CEO of GREYHAWK is pleased to announce that Simon Zamarin and Matt Walsman, professionals working in the New York City office, have become Certified Cost Technicians through AACE International. Mr. Zamarin and Mr. Walsman provide cost management support and claims analysis for GREYHAWK as members of the Consulting division, with a particular focus on New York City projects.

Berat Bapcum, a senior scheduler in GREYHAWK's Woodbury office, has received her Planning & Scheduling Professional Certification, also through AACE International. Ms. Bapcum has extensive expertise in the use of Critical Path Scheduling for multi-discipline projects, and leads the scheduling efforts for GREYHAWK's Project Controls division.

AACE International certifications are a mark of distinction, recognizing those who meet a demanding set of criteria through rigorous examination, experience, education and ethical qualifications established to reflect the sophistication of estimating and scheduling excellence in today's AEC profession. AACEI's certification program is independently accredited by the Council of Engineering and Scientific Specialty Boards, and the International Cost Engineering Council. These achievements demonstrate a commitment on the part of each of these individuals to their personal and professional development. AACE International is the leading-edge professional society for cost estimators, cost engineers, schedulers, project managers, and project control specialists.
